

2014 Grassroots Activist of the Year

NRMCA Government Affairs Committee Names 2014 Grassroots Activist of the Year

NRMCA's Government Affairs Committee presented the 2014 Grassroots Activist of the Year Award to Michael LeMonds, Director Government Affairs, LafargeHolcim and Nathan McKean, CEO, BMC Enterprises, Inc for their outstanding participation in NRMCA's Government Affairs, CONCRETEPAC and grassroots programs.

As a member of NRMCA's Government Affairs Committee, LeMonds has truly demonstrated leadership skills and now serves as the Vice-Chair of the committee. He regularly participates in NRMCA's Government Affairs Committee meetings, conference calls, and Transportation Construction Coalition Fly-Ins. He has also attended all three NRMCA Rally-for-Roads and has participated in many of the NRMCA Quarterly DC Days. LeMonds makes a point to attend all of NRMCA's Annual Conventions and Board of Directors meetings. Finally, he often enlists the support of LafargeHolcim's consultants to assist the ready mixed concrete industry in advancing our industry's most important legislative priorities on Capitol Hill.

McKean recently became a member on NRMCA's Board of Directors and took on this responsibility seriously. He then joined the Government Affairs Committee because of his local political involvement and immediately rolled up his sleeves to begin fighting the good fight on the national level. McKean is an active member of the committee and attends all association meetings including past Rally-for-Roads, Transportation Construction Coalition Fly-Ins, and NRMCA Annual Conventions and Board of Directors meetings. He also participates in every NRMCA Quarterly DC Days and flies to DC individually when association staff calls upon him for important meetings with members of Congress. He can be counted on for all association and industry advocacy matters that help advance the pro-business, pro-ready mixed concrete agenda on Capitol Hill.